X-ray services return to Hastings

I was delighted to officially unveil Spectrum Imaging, which opened its doors to patients in Hastings this week.

The community has been without an X-ray service since early 2014 when the previous facility shutdown.

Spectrum Imaging provides a vital service for residents, allowing them to access X-ray facilities closer to home.

The company has a good standing in Victoria, with several clinics operating across the state.

Staff at Spectrum Imaging could see there was a desperate need for X-ray facilities in Hastings and it is great that they have taken the initiative to move into the region.

Spectrum Imaging has employed local staff members who know the area and are committed to delivering top-class services to the community.

The facility will provide bulk-billed X-ray and dental imaging services and will be open from 9am-6pm Monday to Friday and 9am-12pm on Saturday.

The clinic welcomes calls from health care providers for special requests or out-of-hours services.

I am thrilled that residents will once again have access to vital X-ray facilities in Hastings.
